ARRESTED, WOMAN KILLS SELF

TWO DIE WHEN STEAM ROLLER HURLS TRAIN TO DITCH AT AZUSA

Engineer and Fireman Are Killed, Oil Tank Wrecked as Phoenix Flyer Crumples up at Crossing

The engineer and fireman were instantly killed and the train was wrecked late yesterday when the Santa Fe west-bound train, traveling at an estimated speed of sixty-five miles an hour, crashed into a heavy steam roller one block east of Azusa and piled into a tumbled mass of broken steel two blocks from the collision. The train was eight hours behind schedule.

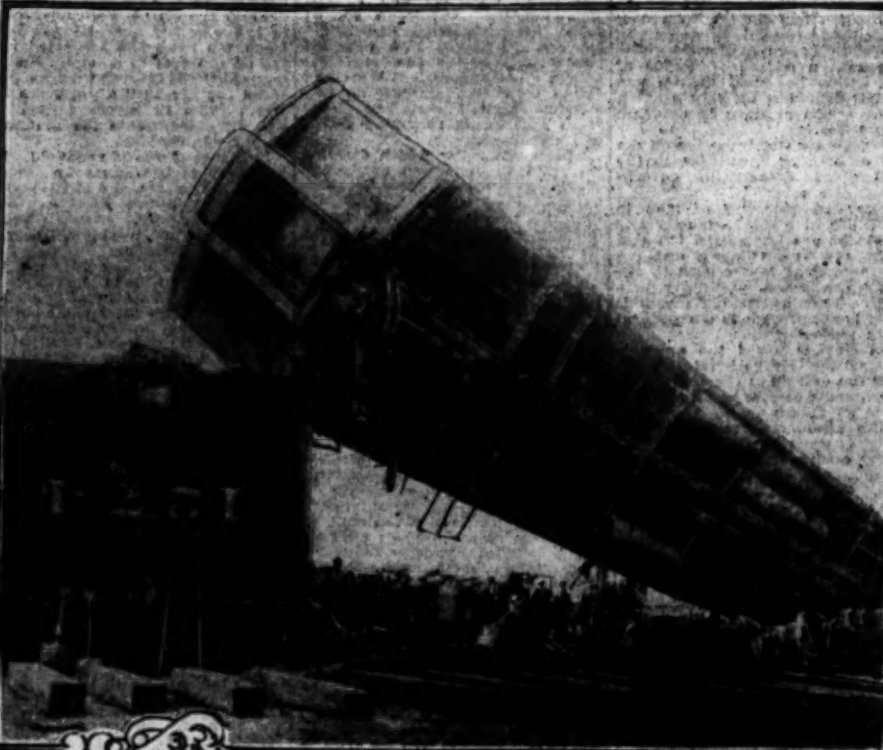

The roof of his cab. His death was instantaneous.

His fireman, Charles N. Hughes, 26 years old, 3708 Adair street, met instant death beneath the completely overturned engine tender. Santa Fe company officials and laborers worked for several hours in mud and oil to extricate his body.

Miss Nellie Hamilton of Phoenix, Arizona, suffering from bruises and shock and apparently was more seriously injured than any of her fellow-passengers, many of whom, after gazing upon the wreck of the engine and tender and the derailed passenger and mail cars, looked upon their fellow-passengers as the collision almost decapitated.

MARRIAGE "CONTRACT" FOUND BY OFFICERS; COMPANION IS HELD

Mrs. Emily Brittain shot herself to death in an airshaft at an apartment house at Fourth and Hope streets late last night a few minutes after she had been arrested by police and private detectives on a charge of complicity in the theft of liquors valued at $5000 from the home of Victor Levy, in the Hollywood district, Nov. 7, 1921.

Sick in bed in Mrs. Brittain's apartments, the police declare, was found Arthur Bowen, wealthy oil operator, whom she had been trying to persuade to sign a contract to marry her after he had obtained a divorce from a wife in the East. Bowen was taken to the County Hospital and held as a prisoner, pending investigation.

When the detectives reached the Brittain apartments, they said, they found the woman in negligee and told her to dress and accompany them to the Police Station.

LOCKED DOOR ON OFFICERS. She retired to a bathroom, apparently to dress. Then she locked the door on the officers when at the last minute, as they later said, they had a hunch that "something was going to happen" and started toward her.

From a small window in the bathroom, Mrs. Brittain jumped into the airshaft. Finding herself unable to escape from the shaft, according to the officers, she shot herself twice—once in the breast and again in the head.

Bowen turned over to the detectives a "marriage contract" which, they said, he declared Mrs. Brittain had been trying to get him to sign. He was quoted as saying she had threatened him with the revolver with which she later had killed herself.

TEXT OF "CONTRACT." "Know all men by these presents, that I, Arthur Bowen, party of the first part, and Emily Brittain, party of the second part, for, and in consideration of love and affection manifested in my heart for the party of the second part, I agree as soon as I am divorced to wed the second party.

The second party agrees to be a loving and dutiful wife to the first party. The second party agrees not to subject herself to vice, crime, dishonesty, or break the laws of a good, decent woman with the best of morals, and the first party agrees to support and provide for the second party in every way from now until date of marriage, and thereafter during married life.

The name "Emily Brittain" was signed to the contract. The arrival of Police Detective Lloyd and Roberts, Officer Henley and Private Detective Armstrong to arrest the woman on the liquor-theft charge had interrupted the signing by Bowen.

According to the detectives, Mrs. Brittain was six times convicted of petty larceny and once of a felony in San Francisco. They declared she posed as a maid and obtained employment at homes of wealthy persons. At the time of the robbery of the Levy home, she was employed there as a cook, they said. They declared she had used various aliases, among them Somerville, Samblin and Sonbrailo. The revolver found with her body in the airshaft was purchased at a pawnshop here yesterday by a woman who gave the name of A. Nelson. The police declared this was one of Mrs. Brittain's aliases.

ORATORICAL FIREWORKS. Pact Opponents Paw the Air.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The Senate concluded tonight its long debate on the four-power Pacific treaty and prepared for its final vote tomorrow. The leaders on both sides privately agreed that ratification by a narrow margin seemed certain.

A display of oratorical fireworks, scarcely surpassed in spectacular effect even during the Versailles Treaty fight, brought the debate to an end. Both opponents and supporters of the pact summed up their four weeks of argument in a running cross-fire of discussion that lasted all day and until late at night, but apparently did not change a vote.

Estimates of the outcome made tonight by well-informed Senators placed the ratification majority at from three to ten votes, depending on how many of those who have been counted against the treaty join the majority once they see that the administration leaders are sure of the two-thirds necessary to ratify.

It was said that several who

BERLIN, March 23.—This was a black day for the German mark, which after the demands of the Allied Reparations Commission had been fully digested, dropped to the lowest level since the armistice—327 marks to the dollar in Berlin, or $0.00295 per mark in New York.

The collapse caused feverish activity in financial circles.

In the opinion of all the newspapers, and of the leaders of practically all the political parties, the reparations commission's demand was a "death blow" to German economic life. How much of this cry is genuine, and how much feigned for diplomatic purposes remains to be seen.

HOUSE PASSES BONUS BILL BY VOTE OF 333 TO 70.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING. (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

WASHINGTON, March 23.—With the rules suspended in order, the soldier bonus bill was passed by the House tonight by a vote of 333 in favor of the measure and 70 against it. Voting for the bill on the final roll call were 248 Republicans, eighty-four Democrats and one Socialist, against it forty-two Republican and twenty-eight Democrats.

more frequent than those in its favor, due to the fact that many Democrats who announced they would support it vigorously attacked some of its provisions and the Ways and Means Committee for failure to provide means of financing the bonus. In the course of the debate, the measure was referred to as a "gold brick," a "bogus" bill, a "hokus pokus" and a "deformed and malformed creature."

REPORT ATTACKED. A vigorous attack on the minority report on the bill, signed by Representative Kitchen of North Carolina, the Democratic leader, and four other Democrats, was made by Senator Longworth, Republican, Ohio. He declared that he never had seen such a cheap, so wantonly vulgar and disgraceful report as this.

Mr. Longworth said he disliked to besmear the Congressional Record with such language, but that he did want to read so the country might know about one sentence in the report. He proceeded to read a sentence in which Ambassador Harvey at London was called "the blasphemous, libelous, bootlicker at the Court of St. James."

While reading was greeted with applause from the Democratic side, led by Representative London, Socialist, New York.

Accusing the Democrats of insincerity in the bonus matter, Mr. Longworth said they favored it only for a payment of the bonus by an excess profit tax and higher surtaxes, and added that they knew the President would veto such a bill.

Representative Cockran, Democrat, said the bill was

That has produced such magnificent forests of timber. There are 10,000,000,000 feet of merchantable timber in the Southern Oregon country, awaiting the demand which is here, for the necessary building, to supply (not only the Orient) but our own United States. The supply is becoming well exhausted elsewhere, and the demand is calling to the West. This is a wealth that few sections can boast of. There are about sixteen saw mills in this country, with more to be installed this year. This makes a very creditable pay roll, by virtue of the employment of many men, the support of whose families gives impetus to trade. There are excellent tracts of timber, both large and small, being offered at very attractive prices.
